2014 – Present	Lead Trainer and Developer – Suicide Bereavement Clinician Training Program – a day - long training for mental health professionals developed in collaboration with the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention and the American Association of Suicidology. The SBCTP provides a foundation for mental health clinicians to provide grief therapy to people bereaved by suicide loss. The Program also is building an online database of clinicians who have completed the training and wish to be listed in the database, with the goal of assisting suicide loss survivors in the U.S. to find a mental health professional in their area who interested in, trained for, and committed to working with people bereaved by suicide.
2006 – 2020	Clinical Consultant & Lead Trainer, Samaritans of Boston - Grief Support Services. Lead clinician in developing an innovative outreach program for suicide survivors, including a home visit outreach team, bereavement support groups, and other support services for survivors of suicide loss. The services are built around the use of trained survivor volunteers to provide outreach and support to new suicide survivors.
2006 – 2019	Professional Advisor – Loss & Healing Council – American Foundation for Suicide Prevention
2002 – 2017	Lead Trainer, Suicide Survivor Support Group Facilitator Training. Lead clinician in developing a two day training for the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention. Presented at numerous locations nationally since 2002. Also developed a self-study package for facilitators that includes a training manual and accompanying video.
2000 - 2002	Director, The Suicide Grief Support Program. A comprehensive program of support, education, and programatic research for suicide survivors. Located at The Trauma Center, Arbour Health System, Allston, MA.
1986 - 2007	Founder and Director, The Family Loss Project, Sherborn, MA. Clinical and research program providing prevention oriented bereavement services in the Eastern Massachusetts area. Provide individual, couple and family grief counseling, and run several bereavement support groups, including Young-Widow/Widowers, Suicide Survivors, Traumatic (Sudden) Loss Survivors, Adults Grieving the Death of a Parent, and Bereaved Parents Support Groups. Engaged in a research program to develop the Grief Evaluation Measure (GEM), a new measure designed to provide an assessment of a client’s current grief response, as well as their risk for the development of a complicated mourning response.
1997 - 1999	Adjunct Faculty, Funeral Institute of the North East , Westwood, MA.
1996 - 2004	Founding Partner, The Sturbridge Group, Harvard, MA Training and consultation consortium working with human service providers who deal with death, dying, and bereavement in their professional roles.
